Community Bulletins

This week from the Snoqualmie Tribe Ancestral Lands Movement:

Snoqualmie Tribe has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review hunting and gathering lawsuit.

“Just as fourteen representatives of the Snoqualmie Indian Tribe signed the Treaty of Point Elliott in order to protect their descendants’ rights, culture, and ancestral lands, so too will our generation of Snoqualmie leaders never surrender the fight to protect so too will our generation of Shoquamin leaders never surrender the right to protect the human rights of the next seven generations of our Tribe.” - Chairman de los Angeles
